Docent Training Announced

Volunteer docents are required to attend a three-part training session in preparation for being official guides at the Santa Elena History Center. The sessions are being offered during three Tuesdays in September: 9/15, 9/22, and 9/29 from 10am-11am. Literature and materials will be provided.

Docents must attend all three sessions. It is likely that another round of training will be provided in October. Sign-up for training by emailing volunteer@santa-elena.org.

Program Support Needed

Planning is underway to offer a program series in the lecture room of the Santa Elena History Center starting in November. Volunteer roles are available to support the scheduling of programs, coordinating presenters, developing a program catalogue, and assisting with logistics of setup for programs.

This is an immediate need that may require approximately 10-15 hours per week. Email volunteer@santa-elena.org if this opportunity interests you.

Other NEW Volunteer Opportunities:

Build a Wall: Volunteer needed to compile and deliver a small, traveling exhibit with general information, exciting images, and informative literature (all provided). Project due by end of August.

Help in the Office: Administrative volunteers needed to support staff with administrative and database projects. There are general office activities and computer/database/website opportunities -- whichever is your strong suit!

Email volunteer@santa-elena.org to sign up for these roles.
